

With services ranging from the evaluation of vision disorders to advanced micro-surgical treatment of most major eye diseases, the Alabama Vision Center has truly become the Referral Center of Excellence for Cataract, Vision Correction and Corneal Surgery.

Founder and Medical Director Price M. Kloess, M.D. is a Board-certified, Fellowship-trained Ophthalmologist specializing in "no-stitch" advanced cataract surgery, corneal transplant surgery, and the following types of vision correction surgery: blade-free all laser Custom LASIK, advanced surface ablation, phakic IOL and bifocal implant surgery.

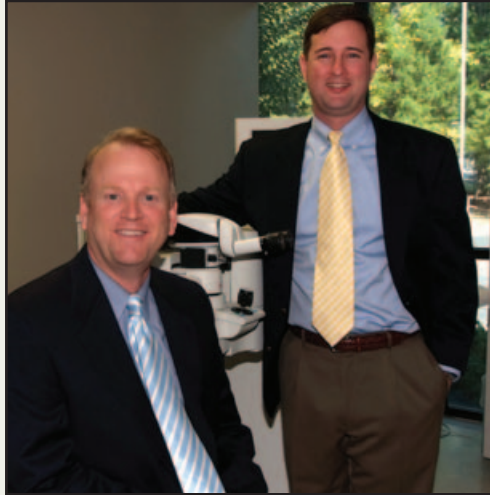

Dr. Andrew J. Velazquez, M.D. is a Board-certified, Fellowship-trained Ophthalmologist. He joined the Alabama Vision Center in 2007 after having served as the UAB Department of Ophthalmology Chief of Cornea and Director of Refractive Surgery. He specializes in "no-stitch" advanced cataract surgery, bifocal implant surgery, blade-free all laser Custom LASIK, and advanced corneal transplant surgery.

Drs. Kloess and Velazquez are experienced refractive surgeons, having performed thousands of laser vision correction procedures (LASIK, Epi-LASIK and PRK). They are recognized experts in the field of cataract and vision correction surgery having taught courses to surgeons all over the country. Dr. Kloess was the first eye surgeon to perform refractive surgery in the Air Force and we were the first to implant the ReSTOR bifocal implant and offer CustomVue LASIK with proprietary Iris Registration technology in central Alabama.

We have assembled a highly-skilled, knowledgeable staff that is committed to providing the best experience for each patient. Drs. Kloess and Velazquez are fellows of the American Academy of Ophthalmology, American Society of Cataract and Refractive Surgery, and members of the board of the Alabama Academy of Ophthalmology.

The Alabama Vision Center is committed to offering the best in vision correction technologies. We are the only center where every LASIK procedure is blade-free, all laser LASIK performed by a cornea specialist.
