Objective of Study Club:

• To educate ourselves in the art and science of patient care in dentistry.
• To enable us to offer and provide optimal treatment for our patients in a predictable and profitable manner.
• To maintain an enthusiastic attitude and high level of energy and excitement in our professional lives.

Learning Format:

• Approach to diagnosis and treatment planning through group participation.
• Clinical techniques through group participation.
• Live technical demonstration.
• Patient management through group experience.
• Bring in lecturers or companies for information and/or demonstration as decided by group.

Our group is composed of general dentists and specialists with experiences in all phases of general and specialty dentistry. We are fortunate to be able to share expertise and experience with such a collection of professionals.

We utilize a group participation format that allows us to share approaches to diagnosis and treatment planning, clinical techniques, patient management, etc.

Meeting Information:

• Meetings are held on Tuesday evenings.
• Meetings begin at 7:00 PM.
• The meeting is eligible for 2 hours of New York State approved Continuing Education credit, through the Nassau County Dental Society.
• Meeting dues are $55 per evening Study Club meeting.

WHY IS THIS STUDY CLUB DIFFERENT?
WHY IS THIS STUDY CLUB EXCITING?

Advanced Implant Dentistry and Oral Restoration has been sponsoring the Center Study Club since 1998. Our format consists of group participation and interaction. Our aim is to provide you with both an interesting and educational experience. We have a multimedia conference room where our meetings are held, which makes our Study Club evenings a state-of-the-art, enjoyable learning experience.

Meet the doctors at Advanced Implant Dentistry and Oral Restoration, PLLC

Michael Klein, D.D.S. graduated from the University of Maryland Dental School. He went on to complete a General Practice Residency program at Woodhull Medical Center in Brooklyn, New York. Dr. Klein received his training in Oral Implantology by completing a two year, full-time Fellowship in Oral Implantology and Biomaterials at the Brookdale Hospital Medical Center in Brooklyn, New York. He then completed Specialty training in Prosthodontics at the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey. Dr. Klein is a Clinical Associate Professor at New York University in the Department of Implant Dentistry. Dr. Klein is a Diplomate of the American Board of Oral Implantology/Implant Dentistry. He has pioneered the technology used in computer-guidance for dental implant surgery and has been issued multiple patents for this technology. Dr. Klein founded Implant Logic Systems, a commercial leader in the development of technology, software and hardware for computer guided dental implant surgical procedures. Dr. Klein successfully sold the company to BioHorizons Implant Company in 2008. Dr. Klein is the Director of Advanced Implant Dentistry and Oral Restoration, in Cedarhurst, New York, where he maintains a private practice limited to Prosthodontics and Oral Implantology. He has co-authored a book, The Atlas of Oral Implantology, as well as numerous book chapters and articles on Implant Dentistry. Dr. Klein speaks nationally as well as internationally on a variety of topics in Oral Implantology.
