BEAUTY COMES TO BELLEVUE

Leading experts discuss latest trends in beauty. Proceeds to benefit the Face, Heart and Mind Foundation.

Seattle, WA, May 17, 2007—"Beauty is the promise of happiness." —Stendhal
The city of Bellevue now boasts swanky restaurants, posh spas, luxury urban living and a world-class museum. What better place to talk about beauty and aesthetics than in a museum that showcases the finest in art and one of the largest collections of Chihuly glass in the nation.

The Bellevue Arts Museum is getting a full-blown beauty treatment on Wednesday, June 6, 2007 from 6—9pm when leading Northwest beauty experts will come together for "A Night of Essential Beauty." Delicious culinary treats and the finest wines available in the Northwest, goodie bags and beautiful giveaways will enhance an evening that will provide you with everything you ever wanted to know about beauty.

"A Night of Essential Beauty" is being sponsored by leading facial plastic surgeon Henri P. Gaboriau MD and the Eastside's premier magazine 425. "A Night of Essential Beauty" will feature an exciting roster of participants from a diverse range of fields within the beauty industry, including Dr. Henri Gaboriau; the celebrated international designer Tim Girvin; couture designer Madina Vadache; Fashion Group International FGI-Seattle President and IADT Dean of Fashion Monir Zandghoreishi; and Michelle Norman, founder and owner of the Allure Salon. This stellar panel will be hosted by Northwest lifestyle expert Alexandra Hedin.

This exciting evening promises to be entertaining and informative when experts in fashion, design and cosmetic enhancement discuss the latest trends in beauty--and it is all for a good cause. Proceeds from "A Night of Essential Beauty" will benefit the Face, Heart and Mind Foundation. Henri P. Gaboriau MD is the Director of Sammamish Center for Facial Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery. Dr. Gaboriau is also the co-founder of the Face Heart and Mind Foundation. Formerly named Heart 2 Heart, the Face, Heart and Mind Foundation provides reconstructive plastic surgery and mental health counseling to children who have been scarred or disfigured due to child abuse. The only program offering children this kind of support, the Face, Heart and Mind Foundation provides the comprehensive healing experience necessary for victims of abuse to live a full, happy and productive life.
