Prominent plastic surgeon Dr. Henri Gaboriau is a leading expert on Radiesse™

New Generation Cosmetic Filler Radiesse passes the kiss test.

Seattle, WA, June 12, 2006—Dr. Henri P. Gaboriau is a leading expert on Radiesse™. The longer-lasting cosmetic filler Radiesse can be used for the treatment of facial lines and wrinkles, such as the nasolabial folds and smile lines. As a leading Radiesse expert, Dr. Gaboriau is part of the Medical Education Faculty affiliated with BioformMedical, Inc., the Santa Rosa, California-based company that owns and distributes Radiesse.

Dr. Gaboriau, along with other members of the medical evaluation faculty, is responsible for training physicians worldwide in the use of Radiesse.

Radiesse is markedly different from other cosmetic fillers such as Restylane, Collagen or Sculptra. Only Radiesse has advanced Microsphere Technology which does more than just smooth a wrinkle -- it also promotes new natural collagen growth of the body's own collagen.

According to Dr. Gaboriau, "We know Radiesse lasts at least a year in the face. There is no risk of allergic reaction because Radiesse is very natural and composed entirely of mineral. Radiesse passes the ultimate test—the kiss test. In the lips or face, you don't even know it is there."

Radiesse has over twenty years of usage with very good profile. It has been used already in several indications in the body already, urinary incontinences used in vocal chord insufficiency. It is very natural and it heals natural on the average a touch up every 10 to 12 months. Designed with safety, durability and longevity in mind, Radiesse is composed of very tiny calcium-based particles in a water-based gel carrier that forms a scaffold around which the body generates new collagen.
