Before

After

Heather has a lot to smile about. As owner and chief designer for Innovative Kitchen and Bath Design, she can appreciate the importance of creativity and attention to detail. When working with a client, she incorporates their desires with her years of experience. The end result is a beautiful, functional room that generally exceeds the expectations of the homeowner.

When Heather was born, she happened to be missing two of her front teeth. She wore braces to minimize the spacing, and bridges were made to replace the absent teeth. The end result was dental work that she was never truly pleased with. Her teeth appeared disproportionate, with a dull yellow shade that did not match her natural beauty. So self-conscious was she, that she did not smile for pictures purposely.

Referred to Drs. Windom and Martin, she decided to replace her dated dental work. "The new materials are so much more life-like", she states. "I wish I had done this years ago." Now, both Heather and her clients can smile about a job well done.
