As a manager of a busy real estate office, Sandra Bussey has come to appreciate the value of a beautiful smile. "Appearance is very important in my work", says Sandra. "I always greet new clients with a handshake and a warm smile."

Sandra always saw dentists regularly, and tried to take good care of her teeth. Over the years, she became less and less happy with her smile. "My teeth appeared dark and discolored. I was really self conscious about having old metal fillings that showed when I smiled. I was so excited when my husband surprised me with a smile makeover as my anniversary gift."

An established patient of Drs. Martin and Windom, Sandra inquired about possibly improving her smile. She related her concerns in her consultation. "I was surprised at how much time we spent choosing the look, shade and style of my new smile."

"Once completed, I was thrilled with my new look. My smile is now excellent!", says Sandra. "Most importantly my smile reflects my enthusiastic attitude."

If you want to be more confident about your smile, call for a consultation and personal smile design session.
